1. Refund Trigger

Q: When does my refund get issued?

A: Refunds are issued after a returned item is received and inspected and confirmed to meet return eligibility, immediately for orders cancelled before dispatch, and automatically for confirmed failed deliveries where payment was already made.

2. Refund Destination

Q: Can I choose where my refund is sent?

A: Online payments (card, wallet, bank transfer) are always refunded to the original payment source. Cash-on-Delivery orders are refunded to Daraz Wallet by default, with a bank transfer option available on request.

3. Partial Order Refunds

Q: I only returned one item from a multi-item order — how is the refund calculated?

A: Only the price of the returned item(s) is refunded. Delivery charges are refunded proportionally only if the entire order is returned.

4. Refund Not Received

Q: It has been longer than the stated window and I haven't received my refund. What do I do?

A: First check the reference number with your bank. If the bank has no record after the maximum stated window, raise a ticket with Customer Support including the reference number for investigation by the Payments team.

Note: Refund FAQs should be read alongside the Refund Policy Overview and Refund Processing Timelines documents for full context on eligibility and exact timeframes.
