

Refund Processing Timelines

Expected timeframes for refunds to reflect, broken down by payment method and bank.

1. Refund Timeline by Method

Payment Method	Refund Processing Time
Daraz Wallet	24 hours
Credit/Debit Cards	3-5 business days (bank-dependent)
Bank Transfers	2-4 business days
Digital Wallets	2 business days
COB → Bank Transfer	5 business days (after bank details verified)

2. What Starts the Refund Clock

- For returns: the clock starts once QC has passed and the refund is approved in the system.
- For cancellations: the clock starts immediately upon cancellation confirmation.
- For failed payments: the clock starts from the payment gateway's failure timestamp, not the order placement time.

3. Checking Refund Status

Customers can check refund status under “My Orders → Order Details → Refund Status”, which displays the stage (Initiated, Processed, Sent to Bank, Completed) along with a reference number for the transaction.

4. Delayed Refunds

- If a card/bank refund does not reflect after the maximum stated window, the customer should first check with their bank using the provided reference number.
- If the bank confirms no record of the refund after 15 business days total, a support ticket should be escalated to the Payments team with the transaction reference for investigation.
- Daraz Wallet refunds that do not reflect within 24 hours should be reported immediately, as this typically indicates a system error rather than a processing delay.

Note: Processing times may extend during high-volume sale periods or bank-side system maintenance windows, which are communicated in advance where possible.
